ON VERGE OF DEFEAT

Two of Four Provisions of Tax Bill Approved by House

EFFECTIVE JANUARY

Final Vote Friday—After Its Disposal Fordney Tariff Measure Will Be Taken Up.

Washington, Sept. 12.—Senator Penrose virtually admitted defeat tonight, in the fight of the Administration and the Republican Senate leaders to reverse the action of the House and make the repeal of the excess profits taxes retroactive to last January 1.

The House Republican conference, overturning the Ways and Means Committee, made the repeal effective as of January 1 next. Senator Penrose indicated that, despite all the efforts of the party leaders, the Senate Finance Committe probably will vote for January 1 next as the effective date. The vote in committee is to be taken tomorrow.

Two of the four major provisions of the House bill were approved today. One fixes the maximum income surtax rate at 32 per cent, as compared with the present 65 per cent, and the other increases by $500 the exemption allowed to heads of families having net incomes of $5,000 or less and by $200 the exemption allowed on account of each dependent.

Apparently the Administration and the important leaders are on the verge of a serious defeat. Repeal of excess profits taxes was promised immediately by the Republicans in their platform and speeches last fall. It was explained that repeal as of January 1, 1912, was intended. Important business interests all over the country have counted on it, and the Administration has repeatedly recommended it Secretary Mellon having renewed this recommendation after the House had acted.

When the Ways and Means Committee's bill to make the repeal as of last January 1 was upset in the Republican House conference little effort was made on the floor of the House to change the conference's action. The understanding was that the Senate would make the date January 1, 1921, and force the House to yield. Opposition in the Finance Committee from Democrats and Western Republicans appeared some days ago, however, and the Administration forces realized that they had a fight on their hands. The Administration may carry its fight to the floor of the Senate, but the leaders fear that if they cannot hold the majority of the committe they will have a difficult time holding a majority of th Senate.

Should the House date be approved, it was said the committee probably would approve repeal of all of the transportation tax as of next January 1, and most of the other tax repeals provided for in the House bill. Secretary Mellon's proposal for retention of the transportation levies next year at one-half the present rates and the restoration of a tax on cosmetics, perfumery and proprietary medicines, were predicated upon retroactive repeal of the profits tax.

In voting to reject Secretary Mellon's proposal that the maximum income surtax rate be reduced to 25 per cent the committee took under consideration a Treasury plan to reduce the rate in each of the income surtax brackets by 1 per cent, so as to lighten the taxes on those having incomes of less than $68,000 a year, as well as those whose incomes exceed that amount.

Several new tax proposals are to be presented to the committee, but Chairman Penrose said it had been decided to have a final vote on the bill next Friday so as to give the draftsmen and experts time in which to put the measure in shape for presensation to the Senate when Congress reconvenes on Septmber 21. If ncessary the committee will hold night sessions, Chairman Penrose said. The question of the amount of the increase to be made in the corporation income tax as an offset to the repeal of the excess profits tax has not yet been reached by the committee. The House bill fixes the total at 12½ per cent instead of the 15 per cent recommended by Mr. Mellon, and the opinion today at the Capitol seemed to be that the House rate would be accepted if elimination of the profits tax were put off until next January.

Senator Penrose said this and the other lesser changes recommended could be disposed of within a few hours after the committee had decided on the very important question of the date of the profits tax repeal. He said that personally he was willing to make the date retroactive.

After disposing of the Tax Revision bill, the Senate Finance Committee will resume consideration of the Fordney tariff measure. Senator Penrose said today that additional hearings would be held and that while there was no disposition to rush the measure, the committee wanted to get along with its work on it.

Sir Richard Anderson Squires, Premier of New Foundland, appeared before the committee informally today to discuss the duties on codfish, herring and codfish oil. He expressed the opinion that the rates in the Fordney measure were so high as to be practically prohibitive. Sir Richard was informed that the committee did not have the Tariff bill before it at this time, but that it would be glad to consider any statement he might care to file.

SENSATIONS IN FATTY'S CASE

Witnesses for State Disappear in Arbuckle Tangle Is Report

SHOW GIRL MISSING

Grand Jury Adjourns Without Returning Indictment—Testimony Unprintable

San Francisco, Sept. 13.—Fresh sensations outrivaling even the shock of the announcement that Roscoe (Fatty) Arbuckle, the champion heavyweight laugh producer of the movies, had been charged with the murder of Miss Virginia Rappe, featured the developments of the case today.

Show Girl Disappears.

Of first magnitude was the charge made by District Attorney Matthew Brady that "undue influence" has been brought to bear on the witnesses of the case.

This charge was followed by the announcement that Alice Blake, one of the show girls who attended the party given by Arbuckle, at which Miss Rappe was seized with the illness that resulted in death and the bringing of the murder charge against Arbuckle, has disappeared.

In addition Brady declared that Zey Pryvon, another show girl also in attendance at the party, had changed her story and faces possible arrest on a charge of perjury.

More Time for Prosecutor.

The grand jury adjourned at an early hour this morning without action on the indictment against Arbuckle charging murder which is sought by the district attorney. It was decided to give the prosecutor further time to present additional evidence.

Mrs. Bambine Maude Delmont, who swore to the complaint charging Roscoe Arbuckle with the murder o Miss Virginia Rappe, loomed today a the central figure in the startling drama. Mrs. Delmont is to be the chief witness at the inquest which authorities were unable to complete ical condition.

Mrs. Delmont Hysterical.

Early today it was declared that Mrs. Delmont might not be able to testify because of her almost hysteryesterday.

Completion of the inquest and indictment of Arbuckle by the grand jury were expected to be the c. developmnts in th case today.

Mrs. Delmont is expected to give the coroner's jury her version of the fatal party at the St. Francis Hotel where Miss Rappe is alleged to ha been assaulted by the fat film comedian, sustaining injuries that resulted in her death four days later. Mrs. Delmont was a member of the party and helped care for Miss Rappe after she became ill.

Testimony Unprintable.

Much of the testimony given by the physicians was of an unprintable nature. The line of questioning followed by officials dealt chiefly with the nature of the injuries that caused Miss Rappe's death, with particular stress on the possibility of the injuries being of spontaneous origin.

Arbuckle plainly nervous and worn was taken back to his cell in "felons' row" after the inquest and locked un for the night.

Grand Jury Meets.

The grand jury met at 7:30 last night to hear the testimony of witnesses rounded up by District Attorney Brady to suport his demand for the indictment of "Fatty."

PLAN WINTER WORK

Boy Pioneers Held "Get Together" Meeting Last Night

Alexandria Pioneers turned out unanimously last night at the Young People's Building for the first meeting of the fall. The summer vacation did not seem to have affected the enthusiasm of the boys in the least and the early arrivals greeted each leader and Pioneer with charactristic shouts as they arrived

A poll of those present revealed the fact that every troop in the city was generously represented, even though some of them are practically without leaders. St. Paul's Troop No. 1, with K. E. Wallace, as leader had the largest representation, but others were close seconds. Virginia Troop, No. 3, which has been so well directed by Paul Wade has lost its leader through removal, but R P. Henderson has taken the troop and the boys are sure of such competent leadership in the future.

Milton Stonnell, leader of Daniel Boone No. 2, has accepted a few new members into his troop and additional leaders are ebing sought in the M. E. South Sunday School in order to accomodate the other boys who wish to become pioneers. Representatives were present from Grace and Second Presbyterian Schools asking that troops be formed in those schools.

Plans were discussed for the winter, troop meeting nights announced and a probable continuation of the gymnasium class suggested. After a general "get together" motion pictures were enjoyed. "Thirsty Fibre" an interesting industrial, was first and then the inimitable Chaplin in "The Count" which the boys enjoyed as only boys can. The troops will met weekly from now on and many activities are planned for them now on and many activities are plan during the winter.

This committee also has charge of arrangements for a banquet which will be given in the near future.

Records indicate that more than one hundred persons are eligible to membership. It is said that there is a considerable number of wearers of the "A" whose names are not shown on these records and it is hoped that these will notify the secretary at once and become members of the club. The only requirement of admission is that the applicant, has some time in the past, won a monogram in some branch of High School athletics.

Purpose of the club is to further High School athletics and to bring the alumni in closer touch with the school. It is sincerely hoped that all eligible for membership will join This club can and will do much for the other branches of school work as well as exerting a good social influence in the High School circles it is stated.

$500 REWARD FOR FIREBUGS

Mayor Duncan Today Offered Money for Their Arrest and Conviction

TO STIMULATE SEARCH

Police Seek Motive for Crime—Fires Baffle Authorities—All Clews Furnished Are Investigated.

A reward of $500 for the arrest and conviction of the party or parties guilty of burning the warehouse of the Virginia Shipbuilding Corporation and the warehouse of the Mutual Ice Company, where government property was stored, today was offered by Mayor James H. Duncan.

The offering of this reward will it is expected pour the acctivities of those in search of the suspected fire bugs which caused the two disastrous blazes Saturday night.

The authorities thus, it is stated, are without any clews as to a motive for the fires. If some active motive could be ascribed they would have something tangible to work on they contend.

Hope of capturing the arson squad has not yet been abandoned and in fact the authorities now are more detremined than ever to run down teh guilty ones a nd every available clew is being run to earth by those engaged in the task. There are several new angles in connection with these two fires that the authorities are now working on which may result in something definite it is stated. Those handling the case are confident that these two fires were not the result of spite work.

With a lack of motive thus far for these fires the police are more perplexed than ever in the case. The reward of the Mayor it is believed will greatly help in running down clews. Each new clew submitted is being carefully investigated but thus far all have been eliminated.

FIRE DESTROYS AUTO

When the flames subsided nothing was left of the car but a mass of tangled iron and steel. The accident happened two and a half miles south of Alexandria on the Camp Humphreys road Mr. Stegall says that the fire was caused by back fire of the carbureter

RECEPTION TO BE FRIDAY EVENING

Samarian Rebekah Lodge No. 27 I. O. O. F., at their hall on last Friday evening tendered a recepiton to Mrs. Annie Palmer, of Childress Va., president of the General Assembly of this jurisdiction.

Mrs. Palmer gave a delightful talk confined mostly to the wonderful work being done by this branch of the order in the interests of the little ones, who through Divine Decree have been bereft of paternal care and attention.

Mrs. Laura Powell, of Richmond Va., a member of the local lodge was also a very interesting visitor.

Refreshments were served, but due to the fact that, the piano recently purchased by the lodge could not be installed in time, the musical programme was omitted.

TWICE DIVORCED HE WEDS SAME WOMAN THIRD TIME

Blackey, Ky., Sept. 13.—That love springs eternal in the human breast is a paraphrase of an old say ing that is proved true by the third marriage of J. M. Taylor 65 years old, wealthy farmer of Letcher Co., and one time Rebecca Brewer 50 years old, who twice before has been Taylor's wife.

Taylor and Miss Brewer first married when she was a slip of a girl. After several years trouble arose and they were divorced. They tried single life for a time, found they could not be happy apart and were married again. This romance went upon the rocks in a couple of years. A second divorce followed After a time Taylor married another, who died after a few years.

His first and second wife was still at her mountain home. The other day he called on her, wooed her again and a third wedding was agreed upon. When the groom came to Blackey for the license he said: "I'll be good to Rebecca now she is the only woman for me and I guess I ought to know." the three time bride of the same man commented:

"There will be no more divorce suits in this family," and she looked as if she meant it.

WASHINGTON DAY BY DAY

(From Our Special Correspondent.)

Washington, Sept. 13.—A convention is being held today in the Fifth Congressional district of Virginia for the purpose of selecting a successor to the late Representative Rorer A. James, of Danville. The leading candidate for the Democratic nomination are J. Murray Hooker, of Stuart and John W. Carter, of Danville. The Fifth District comprises the counties of Carroll, Charlotte, Franklin, Grayson, Halifax, Henry Patrick and Pittsylvania. Of these Hooker has already received the endorsement of Patrick Grayson and Carroll.

While the Republicans have nominated George M. Feltz, of Galax as their candidate, there is no chance of a Republican being elected at the November election. The Fifth District is overwhelmingly Democratic whoever is chosen as the standard bearer of the party will be victorious.

Decide Fate of Claim Board Thursday

Whether the special Claims Board appointed by President Harding at the request of Chairman Lasker of the Shipping Board to adjudicate the millions of dollars worth of claims against the Board will continue to function will probably be decided at the next meeting of this tribunal on Thursday. Slight friction has developed between the members of the Claims Board and the members of the Shipping Board, but the indications are that it will be removed and that the Claims Board will proceed with it swork. The extent of the authority of the Claims Board is at issue.

Are After Tax Dodgers.

Internal Revenue Commissioner Blair announces that the government has uncovered wholesale delinquencies among large tax payers who have used inflated values on invested capital to under-estimate their true liability to the government. Audit of the 1917 returns by government actuaries, discloses millions of dollars in delinquent taxes. A special drive has been ordered by Commissioner Blair to force prompt payment on such tax accounts. In addition to full payment of the back taxes, the taxpayers are to be assessed varying penalties provided by the revenue laws.

Drive Against Govt. Waste.

General Charles G. Dawes, the Director of the Budget is making a new drive against governmental waste by further limiting purchases of supplies and forcing officials to restrict their needs as closely as possible to stocks already available in government supply warehouses. His estimate of six weeks ago that $112,000,000 would be saved out of appropriations made available by Congress for the present fiscal year may be doubled as a result of new methods. Existing contracts for supplies of every character are ebing cancelled or amended and the future spending is being shaped after a "cut to the bone" policy.

Unemployment Conference

It is the expectation that President Harding, when he returns to the White House after his short vacation at Atlantic City and aboard the Mayflower will make public the list of delegates to the forthcoming conference on unemployment. It is believed that between thirty and forty delegates will be selected from various sections of the country representing various groups such as employers of labor and representatives of labor.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover, who is with the President on his latest outing is making a careful canvass of available men to fill the various posts and it is the hope that highly practical benefits will result from the gathering. Within the last week or ten days according to officials at the Department of Labor, the labor situation throughout the country has somewhat improved. The increase in employment, however is slow.

Seek Airship From British

It is expected that the British government will be asked to turn one of its rigid airships over to the United States to replace the dirigible ZR-2 which crashed recently in England with a loss of 44 lives. In all probability one of the three German airships turned over to the British under the terms of the armistice will be requested. The proposal is to be made in connection with the financial settlement between the American and British governments over the loss of the ZR-2.

The proposal for the turning over of the German airships has not been formally placed before the British and will not be until after the burial of those who were killed in the disaster which befell the ZR-2. The bodies of the Americans who were lost will reach the United States the last of this week and the funerals will be held a few days later.

A TRAGEDY

That "Fatty" Arbuckle, who has furnished the millions with so many hours of innocent and wholesome laughter, should be behind the bars, implicated in one of the gruesome tragedies of the day—is, itself, a tragedy. The public has come to demand of its heroes, whether on the real or the mimic stage, at least an approach to decency in their private lives. Whatever be the outcome of Arbuckle's connection with the death of the unfortunate woman in the case—we predict a waning of his popularity with the masses. Thank God, the great bulk of the American people are clean. The Stokes', the Stillmans, and others of their ilk, that yellow the newspapers with their filthy exploits, are like the flickerings of a tallow candle: a stench, a smoke, a little flame—and then darkness forever.

A PARK---WHY NOT?

We notice that Lynchburg is beginning the improvement of a park-site which it has owned for about forty years, and next year the property known as the Riverside Park will be developed along recreation and play-ground ideas. One of the first things to be installed will be a swimming lake.

Why not such good news for Alexandria? We have far better water facilities, we have the fresh air, the blue sky, the green turf, the soil for flowers and shrubs and trees—the song-birds will come, and the people can have a breathing-spot wherein to relax and enjoy themselves. Nature has been kindly and beneficent—the way is plain—only the will is lacking. With a city manager and a council of five—what could not be done to beautify and improve our city, and make it a pleasant habitation and a home!

MEDICAL SCHOOL SITUS

We publish today a very interesting communication as regards the proper location for the State Medical School. The fight is waxing somewhat warm but we have no doubt as to the out come. The friends of the University in this State are legion and the institution of which they are so proud and which bears a world-wide reputation, will never be allowed to be crippled by the removal of one of its most important adjuncts.

LYNCHBURG CITY MANAGER

The first annual report of Edward A. Beck, city manager of Lynchburg, covering his administration from September 1, 1920, to August 31, 1921, has been prepared, and will be presented to the city council today. It covers ninety pages and embodies a summary of his activities for the year, and makes instructive and interesting reading. It includes also a message from Mayor Harper, summaries of the work of the general city government and various departments, as well as two financial statements showing the income and expenditures of the city from September 1, 1920, to August 31, 1921.

The report opens with a resume of the changes effected by the shift from the government under the council and aldermanic form to the rule of the council of five, with a city manager. The mayor says of the report of the city manager, "With its explanatory passages, its illustrative charts. and its statistical tabulations, it forms a document which is not only of the highest value as a municipal record, but it also discloses a volume of work accomplished, an efficiency of administration, a relative economy in cost, and an ability of management on his part, which is undoubtedly gratifying to the council, and which must win, as it surely merits the sincere aproval of the whole people of the city. * * * I feel that it is in no exaggeration, but a mere statement of fact to say that Lynchburg is now being served by a city manager who has no superior in his profession in this country. * * * Perhaps no claim of advantage for the present form of government has been better justified than that of the promptness with which municipal business can be transacted. * * * There has been no delay in disposing of every matter presented to the council for its consideration. * * * THERE HAS BEEN AS MUCH STREET PAVING COMPLETED AS WAS DONE DURING THE PRECEDING SIX YEARS. THE LENGTH OF SIDE WALKS CONSTRUCTED EXCEEDS THAT DURING THE PRECEDING FIVE YEARS. THE SEWER CONSTRUCTION EXCEEDS THAT DURING THE PRECEDING FOUR YEARS. The improvements in the city parks, the establishment of playgrounds therein, and the construction of the swimming pool in Miller Park, have so obviously increased the capacity of these pleasure grounds to serve the city, that comment is needless."

These statements touch only the high places in the report. A full catalogue of the triumphs achieved under city management in Lynchburg would occupy a full page of The Gazette. Suffice it to say that this first year's record only adds to the overwhelming mass of testimony in favor of a city manager and council of five for municipal administration.

The election in Alexandria that is to decide the question of city-managership is only a few weeks off. If we have read the sentiment of the people aright; if we have in any degree correctly interpreted public opinion; there can be but one result—a big majority at the polls in favor of the issue. But let us here admonish the qualified voters in the city—men and women—that they cast their vote. To fail to carry the measure would mean unmitigated shame and humiliation. To achieve its success means the accomplishment of the greatest step ever taken for a Greater Alexandria.

Christian Citizenship

Eloquent Sermon Preached Sunday Night by Dr. E. B. Jackson

Duties of Citizenship Defined

At the First Baptist Church last evening the pastor, Rev. Dr. E. B. Jackson, spoke on Christion citizenship, before a large audience. He elaborated upon principles found in the 15th Psalm. The following contains the substance of his remarks: The true Christian citizen recognizes the integrity of himself, the integrity of other people and the integrity of righteoness. The psalmist evidently feels that his people fall short in these things. Unless a man will contend for the right of personality then he is mere clay in the hands of selfish politicians. He must repel any attempts to invade his individuality, or acknowledge that he is a "mere thing." "He walketh uprightly.' There may be some who do question able things which biasts good reputations, but here is one man who prefers to keep on good terms with himself—indeed he is more solicitons about this than keeping on good terms with men who have an axe to grind. The good citizen is a positive force in a community for righteonness not for those who claim authority and those who would use the big stick. He "worketh righteousness" and he cannot sit still when acknowledged and notorious girls flount themselves openly especially if they remain undisturbed. God helps the man who remains silent because of fear of losing business and sees sacrificed the best interest of the community. This man "speaks the truth in his heart.'' He is honest with himself. He is not fool enough to try to persuade himself into a course of action that is recognized as questionable. But this Christion citizen must recognize the integrity of other people. He "backbiteth not with his tongue." He is not a base slanderer because he desires to destroy the opposing influence of others that he may accomplish his own purposes. The time must come when men must be square enough to recognize the honest connection of others—beware of that one who does not respect your conscience.

"He doeth no evil against his neighbor,'' There are other ways of hurting men of circumstances than by slander, and it is by crooked dealings. "if you don't vote my way of course you can expect no favors at my hand" A system of bribery that ought to be placed behind the contempt of all decent citizens. By what law has a man the right to force his opinions upon others in a great democracy. Don't allow them to tie strings to you. "He that taketh not up a reproach against his neighbor." That implies that you will not listen to slanderous imputations against others unless they can be proved. A man's reputation ought to be worth something. Ask the question with yourself: Who is it that attacked and why? Is it a self-seeking gentleman who is making the attack in order to destroy opposition to his policies? The true citizen will acknowledge the integrity of righteonsness? There is a difference with him between black and white, between right and wrong Wa fellow who would obliterate the old time distinctions between right and wrong. By a system of marvelous cassuity he would defend certain servessions of the law, provided there is money in it. "In whose eyes a vile person is condemned.' The true citizen does not despise evil men but he has hatred of their practices. He does not bow to the will of influential man when he has no respect for the men—he would rather feel self respect than receive favors from them. which he knows are to be returned. "He honoreth them that fear the Lord." Even if they do refuse to flock with the tide; even if they do not bow the knee to Baal. Better be on the unpopular side. "Blesed is the man that walketh not in the counsel of the ungodly." Don't allow yourself to be a tool of designing men by your silence. "He that sweareth to his own hurt and changeth not." When he makes a contract to live up to it—he will be honest even if at a loss. He has some little respect for putting welfare and does not allow his pocket book to regulate his principles. May the tribe of uncompromising citizens increase in old Alexandria. Let us beware of the trimmer and the coward.

"Dickey," said his mother, "when you divided those five caramels with your sister, did you give her three?"

"No, ma. I thought they wouldn't come out even so I ate one 'fore I began to divide."—Edinbudgh Scotsman.

Here is a story from a Cincinnati picture show: The Literary Digest's "Topics in Brief" were being shown. They included the story of the man who when asked if he liked Omar Khayyam, replied, "I never drank it" and whose wife objected: "You ought not have said that—it's a kind of cheese."

A girl in the audience laughed and said "That's a good one," and the girl next to her asked, "Well, what is it?" The first girl replied "A cigaret."—Overheard by a correspondent.

The Science of Bread-making

It isn't mere bulk that you want; but NUTRITION. And nutrition depends upon a selection of proper ingredients. It is required that every item used in making be of a standard in purity and nutritive value that insures the maximum of nourishment.

The mixing of the doughs are accomplished by means of a patented process which insures the development of every particle of the gluten in the specially selected flours---thereby giving to the bread ALL the nutrition possible. And then, for "good measure", unusual quantities of rich milk are added.

So you see in CORBY BREAD you get the benefit of "scientific bread-making"—BREAD that is absolutely pure and wholesome.

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. Edsel B. Ford, President of the Ford Motor Co mpany, makes the following announcement:

"We are making another reduction in the prices of For d cars and the Ford truck, effective today. The new prices average $70.00 under former prices, and are the lowest at which Ford cars and trucks have ever been sold. List prices, F. O. B. Detroit, are now as follows:

	New Prices	Old Prices	Amount of Reduction
CHASSIS	$295	$345	$ 50
RUNABOUT	325	370	45
TOURING CAR	355	415	60
TRUCK	445	495	50
COUPE	595	695	100
SEDAN	660	760	100

"This is the third price cut during the past twelve months. On September 22, 1920, the price of the Ford touring car was reduced from $575 to $440; June 7th to $415, and now to $355, making total reduction in this type of $220, or 38 per cent. The same proportionate reductions have been made in all other types. One year ago the price of the Ford sedan was $975; today it sells at $660 with the same equipment.

"We are taking advantage of every known economy in the manufacture of our products in order that we may give them to the public at the lowest possible price, and by doing that, we feel that we are doing the one big thing that will help this country into more prosperous times. People are interested in prices, and are buying when prices are right.

"The production of Ford cars and trucks for August again broke all previous high records with the total reaching 117,696. This is the fourth consecutive month in which our output has gone over the hundred thousand mark, the total for the four months being 463,074, which has gone a long way in making possible the present reductions. June this year, with an output of 117,247 was the previous record month.

"One noteworthy feature of our sales is the increased demand for Ford trucks and cars for salesmen. This class of commercial business has been gradually increasing the past sixty days and we interpret it as a very good sign of improvement in general business.

"No reduction has been made in the price of the Fordson tractor, and none is contemplated."

Go over these new prices! See how little it costs to become the owner of a Ford car or a Ford truck. Can you really afford to do without one any longer?

Let us tell you more about it, and advise you regarding the delivery of the particular type car in which you are interested.

THE NEW DIVISION OF COMMERCIAL LAWS

Archibald J. Wolfe, just appointed by Herbert Hoover, chief of the Division of Commercial Laws, Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Comerce in a well-prepared story in the September issue of American Industries, tells of the scope of this new commercial division, which will be of great value to industrial organizations throughout the country.

"It is in response to the widely expressed need of a central and authoritative information service," says Mr. Wolfe, "relative to foreign legislation regulating commerce and to the application of foreign commercial laws to the exigencies of American trade with foreign countries, that a Division of Commercial Laws has been created in the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Comerce, although for a long time past the various geographic divisions of the bureau have been giving much attention to the legal problems submitted to it by American firms.

In the newly organized Division of Commercial Laws of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce will be henceforth centered the service information on commercial laws of foreign countries and on their application, This service is intended to be of practical use to American firms and to their counsel. It will in no way seek either to supersede the law to partment or the legal adviser of any American corporation or firm, but on the contrary, it will seek to co-operate with the counsel and to supply him with technical data which a layman may be unable to utilize without his assistance. In this respect there occurs to me another simile—that a drug store which keeps a stock of medicines and chemicals, compounds them to a doctor's prescriptions, but does not undertake to treat ailments. The Division of Commercial Laws will render no legal opinions, though where possible, from the experience of its staff, on consultation with other divisions, with the bureau's representatives at home and abroad and with specialists in the United States and in foreign countries, it will endeavor to assist American firms with practical advice in dealing with specific problems.

Keep the University of Virginia Intact—The Medical School at the University!

During the past few months I have been surprised to find how many people have been ignorant or misinformed as to the facts in the case regarding the proposed removal of the Medical School from the University of Virginia at Charlottesville. Those advocating its removal to Richmond (mainly Richmond people or those interested in or graduates of Richmond Medical College) have sent broadcast a voluminous literature which, to a casual reader and to one who has not thoroughly gone into the subject, gives the impression that Richmond is the logical site for the State Medical School to be known as the University of Virginia Medical School.

Everyone agrees, that for reasons of efficiency and economy there should be only one state-supported medical school in Virginia and those who have gone most thoroughly into the situation consider that Charlottesville is the logical site for this consolidated medical school.

Those advocating Richmond as the site for such a school would make us believe that a good medical school is inevitable in Richmond, but impossible in Charlottesville. Is it not strange then that Richmond Medical College situated in Richmond and receiving suport from the state has not eclipsed the Medical School of the University of Virginia, now situated at Charlottesville?

The University of Virginia Medical School has been functioning most effieciently at Charlottesville for a hundred years. The state contributes only one-third of the expenses, the remainder being furnished by endowments, tuition fees, etc. It has sent out graduates of the highest caliber not only to all parts of the state of Virginia, but to all parts of the United States. Men from nearly every state in the Union enter its doors to receive their medical education. The University of Virginia Medical School is well known, not only throughout this country but also in foreign countries and stands high in their medical circles. Not since 1911 has a single University of Virginia graduate failed on his examinations before the Virginia Medical Examining Board. Some of the largest hospitals in the country favor University of Virginia graduates as internes. Is not Virginia justly proud of her medical school?

Yet there are some who want to throw this achievement of a century into the discard, to try an experiment—an experiment which the greatest authorities on medical education in the country advise against. They want to dismember a great university—take and move its medical school a hundred miles away. Vanderbilt is just at present preparing to spend three milions of dollars to annihilate two miles of space between its medical school and university grounds—to transfer its medical department across the city of Nashville to its own campus, and the Carnegie Corporation and the General Educational Board are each contributing a million and a half for this purpose.

University life is very broadening and beneficial to any man. At the boarding house at the fraternity house, at all student gatherings, the medical student comes into contact with the students of engineering, law, arts, literature and what not. In this way he gets an insight into the other professions and interests of the day that he could get in no other way. He is kept from getting into a rut, what the professional man is so likely to do. Some say there is not this fellowship, that medical students stand aloof, but five years of university life has convinced me that the medical student welcomes association with students in other departments and that they likewise welcome associaion with him.

Moreover there is no precedent for such a transfer of a medical school that has been functioning efficiently for a hundred years. Those who advocate this move must bear the burden of proof. The commission selected to go into the situation voted five to four for the change—a practical deadlock.

How much importance experienced educators attach to university location of medical schools may be seen from the following: Dr. David H. Edsall, dean of the Harvard Medical School, says: "I feel so strongly the importance of intimate contact with the general university that I should be very glad indeed if the mere three or four miles that separate the Harvard Medical School from Harvard University could be wiped out and, so far as my personal opinion is concerned, I would unhesitatingly, were it to be done over again, urge that the Harvard Medical School be put out in immediate proximity to Harvard University in Cambridge, instead of in Boston, and I have not a moments doubt that they would have had perfectly adequate clinical material there, through the drawing force of the personnel, laboratories and so forth that the school provides.

I should further think that there would be an inestimable harm to the general prestige of the very dignified old University of Virginia and its widely known Medical School to take the step of separating it from the general university. I personally should sincerely hope that that would not be done for that reason as well as for the reasons above expressed."

Again, President Frank J. Goodnow of John Hopkins University says:: "A medical school should if possible, be in a close proximity to the campus of the University. Only under such conditions is the most efficient work to be expected."

Dr. J. M. Finney of the same institution says: "As between a medical school in a town with the University and in a city without, I should choose the former."

Dr. Abraham Flexner, secretary of the General Education Board one of the greatest authorities on medical education in the country goes so far as to say: "It is my conviction—a conviction born of observation over a very wide area—that Virginia will hardly be able to develop a school of the highest grade except as an immediate part of the State University at Charlottesville."

Four college presidents, 8 deans of medical schools and scores of the most prominent and well known university professors have registered their opposition to moving the Medical School from Charlottesville. In support of their stand there are med-

DODSON WARNS CALOMEL USERS

It's Mercury! Attacks the Bones, Salivates and Makes You Sick

There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when a few cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone—a perfect substitute for calomel.

It is a pleasant, vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can not salivate.

Children and grown folks can take Dodson's Liver Tone, because it is perfectly harmless.

Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury and attacks your bones. Take a dose of nasty calomel today and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone instead and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you.

SEPTEMBER 13-1814
The Star Spangled Banner

DURING the bombardment of Fort McHenry by the British in the War of 1812, Francis Scott Key, on September 13, 1814, composed "The Star Spangled Banner" aboard a vessel rocked by the cannonade. Sing it today!

"Oh, say, can you see
By the dawn's early light
What so proudly we hailed
At the twilight's last gleaming?

Whose broad stripes and bright stars
Through the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watched
Were so gallantly streaming.

And the rockets' red glare,
The bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof through the night
That our flag was still there:

Oh, say, does that Star
Spangled Banner yet wave?
O'er the land of the free
And the home of the brave!"

Long live the United States of America!

POST OFFICE PUBLICITY

Recent developments in the Post Office Department seem to indicate that Postmaster General Hays has been taken into camp by no less person than R. B. Howell, Republican National Committeeman from Nebraska, and one of the original, consistent Government - ownership boosters. Furthermore, Howell, who has ambitions to be a Republican Senator from Nebraska, is working the post office publicity department to a fare-eye-well on a rather shaky scheme to furnish all the farmers in the country news by wireless telephone. To make his scheme apear important and feasible, Mr. Howell is taking a trip to Europe ath is own expense to report to Postmaster General Hays how the worn-out countries of Middle Europ are serving the farmers by radio—which by the way is an American invention and brought to perfection in this country.

Aside from making Postmaster General Hays ridiculous in the eyes of those who know the possibilities and limitations of wireless telephoning, Mr. Howell's public ownership plans are about due to get a severe smack from the administration. A few days after President Harding was inaugurated it was decided in a cabinet meeting that radio development in this country would be best served by private industry, which has already developed the science far beyond the dreams of the original inventors. Secretary Hoover announced that policy, and President Harding spoke it in a message to Congress.

R. B. Howell, who has made a little local fame forhimself in Ohaha by runing a city-owned ice plant, has persuaded Mr. Hays that the same considerations which elected Howell to a small city office on a municipal ownership platform wil save the day for the Republicans in Ohaha—if translated into terms of Government control of radio indunstry.

Administration heads who understand thesituation believe that Postmaster General Hays is not in accordance with Howell, and that the conservative element in the cabinet will smash the radical Nebraskan's dreams of serving the farmers their news from Washington. In the first place it is not to be expected that the powerful country editorthroug hout the land is going to allow his Congressman to vote for any huge sum of boney to create a rival, Government-owned news distributing service. That consideration alone is enough to kill Mr. Howell. On the other hand, the splendidly developed radio system, worked out betwen the Government and private scientific enterprises, will probably not be upset without a fierce fight on Capitol Hill, where spending money for government for this sort is intensely unpopular.

$500,000,000 ADDED TO COTTON VALUE

In the last sixty days the advance in cotton has made the new crop and the carry-over worth nearly $500,000,000 more than they would have been worth at the prices then prevailing. Moreover, the gambling bears were bent on beating prices still lower, but fortunately they have been caught in their own trap and are being right gloriously punished.

This $500,000,000 means a change difficult to exaggerate. It will wonderfully affect the whole atmosphere of the South's business and agricultural interests; it will save many a many and many a business from bankruptcy; it will revive trade; it will nourish every industry with new life blood; it will quicken the hopes of the disheartened; it will put new courage into all the people; it will show the tremendous blunder committee when the former administration curtailed credit and killed the War Finance Corporation, and it will prove the power for good of the freer credit and the re-establishment of the War Finance Corporation by the present administration.

This advance will also show the wisdom of a reduced cotton acreage, with an increase in foodstuff production. In this lesson the South should find the road to permanent prosperity, greater than it has ever known.

If the South will, now and forever be independent and rich, let it cut its cotton acreage heavily for all time to come and intensify the acreage it does cultivate in order to reduce the cost of production and then concentrate on foodstuffs for itself and for the country. Then home-made fertilizers will enrich its soils, grain and grasses and cattle and hogs will diversify its agriculture, enlarge the horizon of its farmers and add enormously to their prosperity. Never was there a better object lesson than the present.

If the South had raised 12,000,000 bales of cotton, the price would probably have gone to 6 cents a pound; but with a crop of only about 7,000,000 bales the price has gone to more than three times that figure and many a farmer will now live who, at 6 cents, would have been hopelessly bankrupt and in poverty for years to come. A crop of 12,000,000 bales with a carry-over of, say 8 000,000 in round figures, or 20,000,000 bales, at 6 cents would have been worth only $600,000,000, which would have meant bankruptcy for the entire cotton-growing interests. A 7,000,000-bale ccrop and a carry over of 8,000,000 bales at even 18 cents a pound—and it should go higher—would be worth $1,350,000 000.

Let the South reverently thank God for this increased wealth, take courage and go forward with new zeal and energy.—Manufacturers' Record.

Amar y saber no puede ser—No one can love and be wise at the same time.

A vuestra salud—To your health.

Guerra cuchillo—War to the knife.

Here is a singular incident showing how easy it is to mistranslate an overheard remark.

Said Mrs. A, one of the overhearers: "They must have been to the zoo, because I heard her mention 'a trained deer.'"

Said Mrs. B: "No, no. They were talking about going away and she said to him, 'Find out about the train, dear.'"

Said Mrs. C: "I think you are both wrong. It seemed to me they were discussing music, for she said, 'A trained ear' very distinctly."

A few minutes later the lady herself apeared and they told her of their disagreement.

"Well," she laughed, "that's certainly funny. You are poor guessers all of you. The fact is, I'd been out to the country overnight and I was asking my husband if it rained here last evening."—Boston Transcript.

Schemes of Idealists Disgust League Members

Geneva, Sept. 13.—Far fetched schemes of idealism, which disgust some of the members are appearing at the League of Nations meeting. Last year it was the pooling of raw materials, which was effectively squashed. This year it is the coordination of all the world's intellectual efforts this being the scheme advanced by Leon Bourgeois, of the French delegation, but believed to have originated with Lafontaine the Belgian Socialist.
A sub-commission actually has adopted a report recommending that the League co ordinate all the intellectual ideas from all parts of the globe, although some of the members of the commission admitted that they did not know what it was all about.
The Canadian delegation will protest tomorrow against this sort of thing being loaded on the League contending it is an effective way to kill it.

SOUTHERN STATES FORGE TO FRONT

Provision for New Bond Issues Places South in Lead for Good Roads.

Engineers Evolve Better Pavements—Highway Officials Turn to the Dustless Types—Cost of Surfacing Below War Prices.

By CLIFFORD SPURRIER LEE, Director, Highways Information Service, New York.

Recent provision by the legislatures of North Carolina, Virginia, Missouri and other southern states for bond issues to provide funds for extensive highway construction have placed the states of the South far to the front in the matter of good roads. North Carolina has provided a bond issue of $50,000,000, Virginia $40,000,000 and Missouri $60,000,000.
Texas is doing a large amount of construction work, having completed 130 new projects involving 1,106.1 miles at a total cost of $7,366,314. The state is now building 192 projects at a cost of $26,955,348. Ninety-two other projects to cost $4,000,000 more have been approved. At an expenditure of $3,000,000 Georgia has completed 62 new road projects in 36 counties. In addition, 161 projects in 11 counties involving an expenditure of $14,000,000, are under way. Plans are being prepared for 78 additional projects in 53 counties at a cost of $2,000,000. Fulton County alone will spend $1,000,000.
In South Carolina a good roads association was organized recently with the object of securing at the next session of the legislature a $50,000,000 bond issue for a state highway system. Florida, Georgia, New Mexico, Tennessee and Louisiana are doing considerable road work and there is much discussion of the need for better highways in Mississippi, Kentucky, New Mexico, West Virginia and Alabama. Pickens County, Alabama, plans to spend $200,000. In Virginia the State Highway Commission in June let contracts amounting to $1,200,000. The Arizona State Highway Commission has approved 41 projects at a total cost of $6,000,772. Approximately $1,000,000 will be available for good roads in Letcher County, Ky.

Dixie Highway, between Port Orange and Daytona, Fla., paved with asphalt.

Reports to Highways Information Service for July show new contemplated bond issues for road building and street paving in southern states as follows: Alabama, $470,000; Arizona, $60,000; Arkansas, $50,000; Florida, $4,605,000; Georgia, $853,000; Kentucky, $995,000; Louisiana, $631,000; Mississippi, $480,000; Missouri, $60,380,000; North Carolina, $6,775,400; Oklahoma, $815,000; South Carolina, $1,709,000; Tennessee, $1,670,000; Texas, $11,201,000; Virginia, $200,000, and West Virginia, $15,727,000.
The growing demand for good roads in the South has provoked considerable discussion as to the cheapest and most durable types of pavement. Statistics show that for hard surfaced roads the asphaltic types are in greatest general use. The popularity of these types, especially those of the sheet asphalt, the asphaltic concrete and asphaltic macadam, is due to their long wearing qualities, resiliency against traffic impact, dustlessness, noiselessness, cleanliness and low cost of upkeep. Brick and concrete roads have also developed as have the wooden block and granite block types. The most recent available figures give 42.11 per cent of the surfaced roads in the United States as being of gravel, 25.22 per cent as macadam, 17.16 per cent sand-clay, 10.98 per cent asphalt and other bituminous materials, 3.91 per cent concrete and 0.62 per cent brick. The figures for the asphaltic and brick types,—a total of 15.53 per cent show the extent to which city types of pavement have been adopted in the rural districts.
The types most favored in the cities not only for paved streets but for improved roads, included not only the asphaltic types but those of brick and macadam. Brick is highly desirable but more costly than some types. Macadam is a satisfactory type when combined with an asphalt binder which makes the road dustless and prevents ravelling. It costs but little more than the old type of macadam since the cost of sprinkling with water is eliminated. Portland cement concrete is not resilient but it forms an excellent foundation for the resilient surfaces. When used with an asphalt filler brick is semi-resilient. Asphalt surfaces have an average life ranging from 20 to 25 years and foundations, if thus protected, should last not less than thirty years. When a foundation is covered with a shock absorbing surface that receives the impact of heavy traffic the base need not be so thick, thus affording a material economy.

Bolsheviki Declare State of War in Bessarabia, Rumanian Province

Riga Sept. 13.—The Russian Soviet Government has declared a state of war in Bessarabia, the Rumanian frontier zone.
According to the Rosta News Agency, Leon Trotzky the Bolshevik Minister of War, has gone to the Ukraine apparently in connection with the reported mobilization of Rumanian or anti-Bolshevik troops recruited in Rumania.
At Zhitomir, according to the Rosta, Trotzky said: "We want peace but those who want to penetrate Russia forcibly will collide with the armed Red fighters."

Do It Now!

So many coal consumers have delayed putting in their Winter coal this season that there will be an urgent demand when the weather gets cold which will make it impossible for the mines to produce, the railroads to haul or the dealer to handle all orders as satisfactorily as the trade will want.

It is our advice to all consumers to enter their order now and have their coal put in as promptly as possible.

KEEP THE UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA INTACT—THE MEDICAL SCHOOL AT THE UNIVERSITY

ical schools and clinics doing most excellent work in smaller centers of population where large hospitals have been developed and employed as teaching hospitals. This is true at Ann Arbor, Michigan, Iowa City, Iowa, and in the very well known Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minnesota.

Surely it would be folly to disregard such testimony as this!

A rumor which seems to have gotten abroad is to the effect that the Carnegie Corporation has promised four million dollars, provided the consolidated school is placed in Richmond. This rumor has no foundation—the Carnegie Corporation has made no promise and has officially remained neutral.

Another argument advanced in favor of Richmond is that of the Dental and Pharmacal Schools. Does it not seem like putting the cart before the horse to advance this argument—to move the main body to its branches? Undoubtedly the Schools of Pharmacy and Dentistry should ultimately be closely associated with the medical school proper, but as Rome was not builded in a day neither can a great medical educational center be so builded. It must take time to create the ideal condition and in the meantime. a few years at most, until these two schools can be installed at Charlottesville these branches can continue to function successfully in Richmond as they have been doing.

Neither the present buildings in Richmond nor in Charlottesville can possibly suffice in themselves permanently for such an up-to-date consolidated school as the one planned. This is the very same problem that Vanderbilt University had to face and they decided to expend three million of dollars to secure university location of their medical school.

Those who want the Medical school in Richmond lay great stress upon the "greater clinical advantages that Richmond offers." They seem to lose sight of what really constitutes medical training and clinical advantages. The doctor in the making goes through four stages:

1. Premedical training in the sciences.
2. Four years in medical school.
3. Internship of one or two years in a hospital after graduation.
4. Experience by practice.

The first and second stages are spent in school and should be closely associated. During the students last two years in the medical school he goes into the clinic and from selected cases is taught the evidences and manigestations of diseases and their diagnosis. The important thing at this time is rather the thoroughness with which he masters the cases shown him rather than the mere number of cases he may casually see.

During the third period, when he is an interne in a large hospital is the time that he should see a greater number of cases and greater variety of cases and, using his more intensive training received while a medical student as a foundation. he is enabled to build up his skill in diagnosis and treatment.

According to Dr. Flexuer, even at the end of this elaborate process the graduate in medicine is hardly yet a doctor, he is, however, ready to enter upon the cautious practice of the profession with a training that, if he is industrious, will make him a sound practitioner of medicine and surgery. This last stage then serves to round out the doctors medical education and training.

In the Univeristy Hospital at Charlottesville the medical student receives this best type of clinical instruction. He has free and unlimited acess to this university-controlled hospital in the pursuit of his work. Patients coming from all over this state and neighboring states are under his care and subjects for his study and instruction. In addition to this he has free acces to and special courses at the Blue Ridge Sanatorium for the tuberculosis, an institution just on the outskirts of Charlottesville. This freedom would not be affored him in Richmond where many of the hospitals are privately owned and under various managements.

To summarize:

If Richmond has such great advantages over Chrlottesville why has not Richmond Medical College outshone the University of Virginia Medical School? Though Richmond has graduated many eminent physicians, yet few or none there are who can say Richmond as a school equals the University of Virginia.

Why try an experiment—an experiment advised aginst by the most experienced medical educators and contrary to the experience of other medical schools. Surely this would be folloy and perversenesa.

Why dismember a great University, one that has successfully functioned and efficiently seved the state and nation for a hundred years? There is no precedent or excuse for such distruction.

Why move the main to the branches Denistry and Pharmacy? Rather put things in their proper perspective and unite the branches to the main body. This could and should be done.

Why move the Medical School to Richmond, when clinical needs are satisfied already in Charlottesville?

Why place the University of Virginia Medical School in Richmond at all? The facts point to university location at Charlottesville.—

WHAT MADE THE CHANGE?

This Woman says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Her a New Woman

Pittsburgh, Pa. — "Before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I had bearing-down pains in my sides, stomach and back so badly that I could hardly stand up. I was white and very thin and nervous, had a poor appetite and only weighed 112 pounds. I took ten bottles without missing one dose and gave it a fair trial. When I finished the last bottle everyone asked me what made the wonderful change in me. I told them about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I recommend it wherever I can. I give you permission to publish this letter to help suffering women as your remedies are a godsend and made a new woman of me."—Mrs. F. A. BAKER, 4749 Butler St., Pittsburgh, Pa.

Why will women drag around day after day, suffering from backaches, bearing-down pains, nervousness and "the blues," enduring a miserable existence when they have such evidence as the above that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a dependable remedy for such troubles. For nearly forty years this grand old root and herb medicine has been restoring the women of America to health and strength.

THIN PEOPLE SHOULD TAKE PHOSPHATE

Says nothing like plain Argo-Phosphate to put on firm, solid, stay there flesh and muscle and increase strength, vim, vigor and nerve force.

Physicians claim there is nothing that will increase weight, strength and endurance like organic phosphate commonly known by druggists as argo-phosphate; it is inexpensive and is sold by all leading druggists everywhere under a guarantee to give satisfaction or money refunded. Weakness and thinness are usually due to starved nervous conditions.

Our bodies need more phosphates than are contained in the foods we eat.

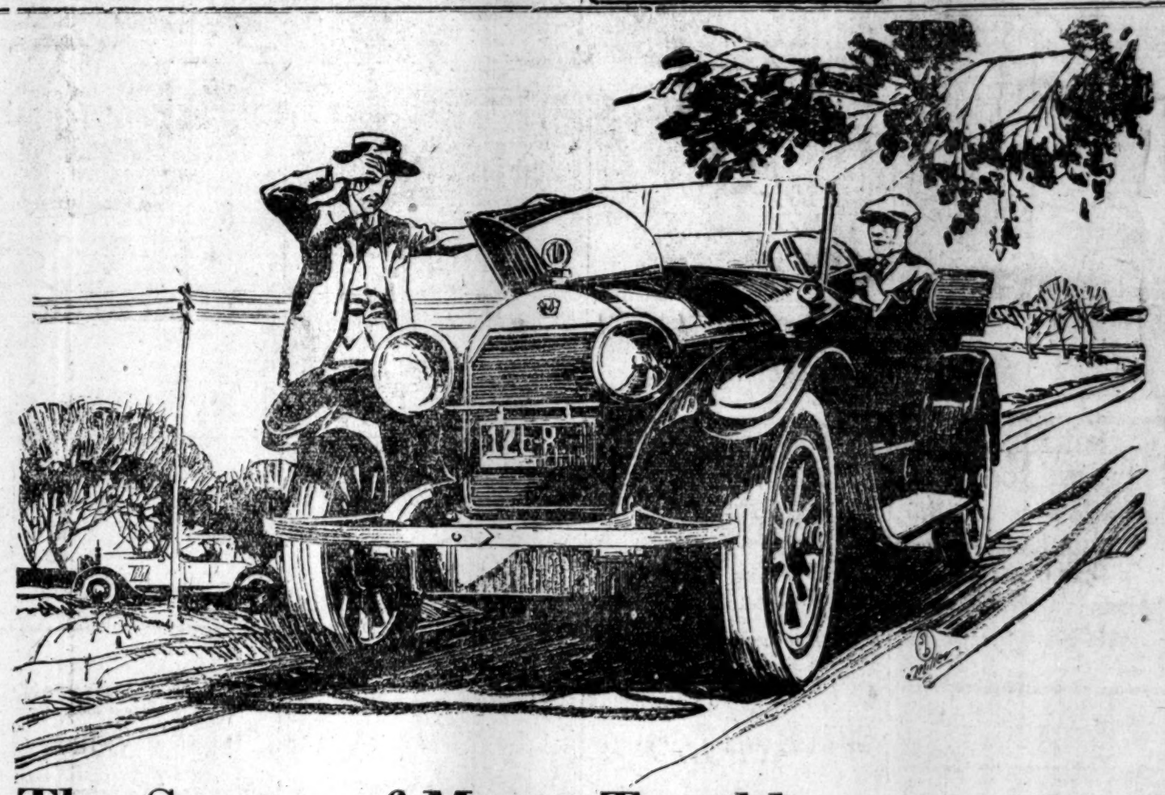
If you wish a more rounded figure and plump well-developed arms, neck and bust in place of hollows you should simply take plain argo-phosphate as it builds up and restores run-down nervous conditions by phosphatizing the system. It transforms the apearance and an increase in weight is often times quickly produced.

The increase in weight also aids in improving the general health. Sleeplessness, nervousness, lack of energy and ambition quickly disappear.

Pale cheeks are changed to rosy ones and dull eyes become bright.

Miss Lena Brown of Atlanta, Ga., who only weighed 90 pounds reports that she gained 10 pounds in two weeks time and says argo-phosphate has made a different person of her and she has never felt better in her life.

SPECIAL NOTICE:—Owing to the fact that so many physicians and druggists are recommending argo-phosphate for relieving all nervous, worn-out debilitated conditions and the unusually large sale for argo-phosphate there will be found in the market numerous substitutes for the genuine article. All imitations are inferior preparations and owing to its unusual flesh producing qualities it should not be used by any one unless they desire to put on flesh and increase in weight.



The Source of Motor Trouble is not Always Under the Hood

YOU do not look into your gasoline tank to find the cause of engine troubles, but you might find it there.

Automobile motors require a good, steady diet of balanced gasoline. If the distilled product varies because of changing qualities of the crude oil from which it is refined, your gasoline is one-sided. Every oil field produces petroleum rich in certain properties, but lacking in others.

The Standard Oil Company (New Jersey) has eliminated numerous motor troubles and much gasoline wastage by developing a motor fuel which is not only properly balanced, but is the same day after day—to the last ounce—wherever and whenever you buy it. It starts the motor in a hurry, burns up cleanly, and delivers exceptional pulling power.

We have never claimed merits for our products which you could not prove for yourself. We recommend that you get a tankful of "Standard" Motor Gasoline and give it a thorough trial. You will quickly note the advantages of a completely balanced gasoline.
